

CP Zaner, the founder of The Zanerian College died tragically when his car was struck by a train on December 1st, 1918 just seven miles north of Columbus. His sister-in-law Mrs Mary Irwin was also killed. Zaner's wife was seriously injured. The contents of his personal library were sold and the proceeds given to his widow. Below is the list of penmanship books from his personal collection. Please see image posted in next message that shows Zaner behind the wheel of the very car he would eventually die in. The Private Library of C. P. Zaner

By special request of Mrs. Zaner, I have been duly authorized to make a disposition of Mr. Zaner's personal and life-time collection of useful and valuable books and reference.

This is an unparalleled opportunity for the friends of penmanship, lovers of art and nature, students of literature and education, to own some of the books which gave much inspiration, knowledge and skill to Mr. Zaner, the world's great penmanship genius, who met a most untimely and tragic death Dec. 1, 1918.

When ordering books, give title and price, enclosing remittance in case the book or books which you select may be sold before your order is received, it is suggested that you specify whether you may wish others from the catalogue, giving the order of your preference; otherwise money will be promptly returned. Special discount of 25% on orders amounting to ten dollars or more. All books sent prepaid.

All remittances will be turned to Mrs. Zaner in full, subtracting only postage or carriage charges.

Kindly assist wherever you can in the sale of this superb library. After close of sale on September 30, 1919 all unsold books will be donated to the Public Library, Columbus, Ohio. Place your order immediately. Address all communications and remittances direct to:

Tom Sawyer, R.D.8, Columbus, Ohio
